

Letters from Fallen Soldiers

Adi Leon, ז"ל

Dear Mom and Dad, even though I don't always show my love and don't spend as much time with you as I should, know that I appreciate you so much. You've always made sure we had everything we needed, and nothing was missing. You worked very hard for that, and you've educated us in an amazing way. In the end, family is everything. You've always accepted me as I am. You are my whole world. I can't write to everyone because I've met so many people in my life, but it's still important for me to say thank you for all the moments and experiences you've given me.

To my good friends, we've shared so many experiences together that I can't even begin to list. Thank you for always being there for me and giving me an amazing childhood. I hope you will celebrate as we planned when I return, and that you will tell your children about all the moments and experiences that I was also a part of. I go into this war knowing that I am not certain to return, but I believe wholeheartedly in what I am doing. We have no other country, and now it's my turn to defend it and take revenge for all the citizens and soldiers, the babies, the elderly, and all the women who were simply defenseless in the face of Hamas' brutality. This is the education my parents gave me, that's what I believe. I hope you will remember me."
